EAST ST. LOUIS
STREET ARC LIGHT

nois License.

SECOND CEREMONY MIDNIGHT

PASTOR ALARMED WHEN HE LEARNED HIS MISTAKE.

All Hastened Across the Bridge and a Second Ceremony Was Performed
as Soon as the East Shore Was Reached.

The midnight marriage of William Scharfer to Ella Cable, under a sputtering arc light at the eastern end of Eads bridge Monday night, was the culmination of one of the strangest series of nuptial incidents that St. Louis ever has known.

Groom and bride are St. Louisans. An illegal marriage, a legal marriage, a terrified clergyman, a fearful bride and a wild ride across the bridge with a mob of merry-makers in a street car, which raced an automobile, are parts of this romance.

To tell the story briefly, William Scharfer and Miss Ella Cable secured a marriage license in East St. Louis yesterday and came to St. Louis in order to be married secretly. To further their ends they employed H. S. Land, a traveling clergyman, to perform the ceremony.

About 7 o'clock last night Mr. Land married the couple in Missouri, under an Illinois license, an illegal act.

Mr. and Mrs. Scharfer fared forth upon their honeymoon.

Shortly before midnight Mr. Land learned that an Illinois marriage license was not legal in Missouri.

Therefore, he reasoned the marriage ceremony he had performed was not binding. The young couple were not wed and they were ignorant of their situation. Someone told the minister that he had laid himself liable to prosecution and that he might be sent to prison for unlawfully marrying a couple in Missouri with an Illinois license.

THE SECOND CEREMONY.

There was but one thing to do. Find Mr. Scharfer, acquaint him with the mistake, hasten to Illinois and perform the second ceremony legally.

But where Scharfer he found. Rev. Land started a frantic search. He was almost frenzied.

He found the couple he was searching for. They were dining and the meal upon the table was as they supposed the nuptial feast.

They heard Rev. Land's story with startled hearts. They agreed that a second marriage must be celebrated at once. Scharfer and his bride started post haste for the bridge and the Illinois shore.

When the train reached the bridge and climbed in an automobile for the East Side.

Perhaps their excitement would have been augmented had they known that they were being pursued. This knowledge was spared the unhappy three. But pursuers were on their track, a gay crowd of merry-makers, friends and others who followed them on their diabolical as a huge joke—nothing else.

There were seven persons in the crowd. They had been told of the plight of the young couple and had been informed of the intended midnight nuptials. So they hastened to the bridge and boarded an electric car and followed them. Far ahead in the gloom an automobile was seen making its way to the "Sucker state."

"There they are—the wedding party," the merry-makers cried.

"We must catch them—see the fun," others echoed.

The motorman on the car was told to throw on the full current.

The trolley dashed on, but the auto, with a clear track and burst of speed, was able to distance the car.

When the pursuers reached the east side their intended quarry had vanished. The crowd waited a long while, but failed to witness the ceremony of nuptial escape.

The couple eluded them and recrossed the bridge without their knowledge.

A greatly relieved, thankful clergyman had accompanied them across the bridge.

Rev. Land had performed the second ceremony at the eastern end of the bridge, with the stars for a canopy, electricity for light, and a series of nuptial escapes as a stimulus.

Raymond and Eva Kelly are named as witnesses to the marriage ceremony.

Rev. Mr. Land left St. Louis early Tuesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Scharfer are in the city.

SUNSHINE'S REIGN TO LAST
Dr. Hyatt Predicts at Least Another Day of It—Rain Clouds Have Been Routed.

Purple and yellow, veiled prophet's colors, are also Dr. Hyatt's sunshine colors for St. Louis Tuesday.

The bunting on Broadway is bright, but Dr. Hyatt says that the sunshine Tuesday and Wednesday will be simply gorgeous.

Tuesday morning was a disagreeable warm shower at 7 o'clock, but on Monday, the being 54, against 48, on the day before.

The prediction of Monday, on which the goods are now being delivered, has pleased the public so well that Dr. Hyatt has left it standing.

"Fair tonight and Wednesday, moderate temperature."

The rain clouds have been driven back to the moist lake region and the remote North Pacific coast. The triumph of sunshine is general over the United States.

RIOTERS STOPPED THE STREET CARS

Effort to Break Strike at New Orleans Failed.

POLICEMEN WERE INADEQUATE.

MAYOR FORCED COMPANY TO OPERATE.

High Officials of the National Guard Expect to Be Called Upon to Restore Order in the City.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7.—Violence started with the first attempt of the railway company to carry out the order of the mayor to run its cars today.

Just before 7 o'clock the company started out three cars from the barns on Canal street. On each car, manned by a non-union motorman, there was a large force of policemen.

Large crowds of strikers and sympathizers were on the streets. When the cars reached Miro street the tracks were blocked and when they stopped the crowd made an attack. Wires and ropes were cut and the cars were boarded.

A pistol shot was fired and the non-union crew attacked. One of them was badly out.

The police seemed unable to cope with the situation. When the rioting spent itself three cars were left standing upon the track guarded by policemen. All the windows in them were smashed and they were otherwise damaged.

F. H. Scheenick of Chicago, a conductor, was the man who was most severely beaten. The mob of strikers captured Scheenick and his motorman and both consented to join the union. Some of the policemen were hurt by flying stones.

The indications are that the company has imported a number of men from other cities.

As soon as news of the rioting reached the hall, the mayor issued a call for a meeting of the police board. It is understood that the object is to swear in emergency policemen.

High officers of the militia are in the city and preparing themselves in the event of a call for the troops.

Gov. Heard will only order out the militia when he is notified by Mayor Capdeville that the situation has gone beyond the control of the municipal authorities.

Mayor Capdeville visited police headquarters and conferred with Chief Journe after the rioting. The chief said that, as the company had temporarily abandoned the attempt to operate cars on Canal street line, the situation had quieted down.

An immense crowd, including strikers and their sympathizers, has gathered at 21st place and Canal street and, without greater protection than is likely to be furnished by the police, there is no likelihood that the attempt to run cars on Canal street will be attempted today.

At union headquarters, it was announced that the headquarters would be kept open to receive any offerings of negotiations looking to a settlement of the troubles.

$3,500 WILL FREE EX-DELEGATE HELMS

LACKS ONLY THIS AMOUNT OF THE NECESSARY BOND.

If John Helms, alleged hoodler now in the city jail, can find a friend willing to qualify in the sum of $3500 as his surety, the former delegate will be released from jail.

Only this comparatively small sum now stands between Helms and liberty for the time being.

Helms thought this morning that he was to be released today, and he went to Judge Ryan's court with his attorney, L. G. Perry, and several persons prepared to sign his bond.

Last week, in the absence of Judge Douglas, Judge Ryan reduced the bond of Helms from $45,000 to $25,000. In a habeas corpus proceeding, the defendant having shown that he was unable to furnish the larger surety.

Today, however, Judge Ryan told the defendant's counsel that, inasmuch as Judge Douglas has returned to the city and the bond was fixed by him, the other judge is the man to attend to the matter.

A Helms representative then went before Judge Douglas, who said that he had fixed the bond at $45,000 and he saw no reason to change it. Judge Ryan, he said, thought one way and he thought another.

Ready to sign the bond for $25,000 were three sisters of Helms, Emma, Dora, and Sophia Helms, who qualified in the respective sums of $5,000, $5,000 and $5,000. John E. Moriche, 201 Cass avenue, $12,000, and Henry Schroeder, 283 North Twelfth street, $5,000.

Schroeder said he was willing to sign one bond of $15,000, but not the general aggregate bond. This left the others qualified only in the sum of $30,000, with $3,500 yet to be satisfied.

The thwarted party turned sorrowfully away, but a little later Schroeder signed the one bond of $15,000, and Helms' friends expressed their confidence in being able to arrange for the remaining $3,500 by tomorrow.

HUGE TASK WAS WELL EXECUTED

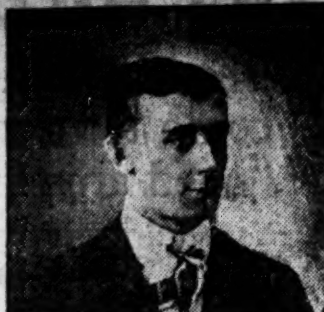

POST-DISPATCH'S BIG PRESSES MOVED IN FAST TIME.

MESSRS. ZIEGLER DID WORK.

ROBERT ZIEGLER.

How long would it take you to move the Post-Dispatch's big color press from the office on Broadway to another building around the corner and set it up there? It took Robert Ziegler and his son, Oscar Ziegler, with a force of machinists, just 10 days to move the color press, and equally short times for the three others nearly as large, from the old office on Olive street to their present place. The work of the Zieglers, father and son, was a most important part of the mechanical equipping of the new Post-Dispatch office, described in the souvenir edition of September 21. The stereotype press on which the daily paper is printed was removed from the Olive street building in the 10 days following December 22, 1901. On January 2, 1902, it was in its new place, running at its full capacity. Day and night work with two shifts of men was required to complete the task in this time. The work was rendered more difficult by the necessity for new shafts. The solid foundation of the new building did not permit the driving of shafts from below. Double press No. 1 was started Sunday morning on its journey from the old quarters to the new. It was put up in less than a week, and had its part in getting out the following Sunday's paper. Double press No. 2 was handled in the same manner the following week, and was put through in about the same time. To move the Scott three-story color press was a 10 days' job. Every one of the thousands of parts was kept in its order, and not one part was broken, lost or misplaced. During the same time the same persons who were superintending the removal of the presses were seeing that the linotypes and the apparatus of the stereotyping and photo-engraving departments were removed. Oscar Ziegler superintended the work each day, leaving his brother, Edmund Ziegler, in charge at night. The Zieglers also constructed machinery for the placing of motors on all the linotypes, stereotyping and photo-engraving machinery.

SAILED 1,200,000 MILES IN 33 YEARS

SKIPPER NICKERSON A PILGRIM OF THE DEEP.

NOW ON HIS LAST VOYAGE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—There will arrive in Philadelphia this afternoon a man who has traveled more than 1,200,000 miles by the sea. He thinks he has had about enough of voyaging and he's going to stop. This remarkable pilgrim of the deep is Capt. Phineas A. Nickerson, and truly he has been a life on the ocean wave. During a service of 33 years with the Philadelphia and Boston Steamship Co. he has made no fewer than 1200 round trips between the two ports.

The steamship Gremlin of that line will bring him here today and when he steps from her deck it will be to spend the remainder of his days in the peaceful haven of domestic life, beside his own hearthstone. Capt. Nickerson has at various times commanded the Norman Parthian, Indian, Spartan and Gremlin, and he has piloted along a most difficult coast line without a single accident of consequence and without the loss of one life. He has now resigned from the service, and his last trip is that made today. In honor of the event a group of his old-time friends accompanied him, and will give him a hearty hall and farewell. Capt. Nickerson is known to thousands of persons who have been shipmates with him at different times, and they, too, will wish him peace and prosperity in his new life ashore.

BRYAN OVERTAKEN BY PROSPERITY

FORMER DEMOCRATIC LEADER'S INCOME $1500 A WEEK.

HAS $168,000 AND A HOME

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 7.—William Jennings Bryan's beautiful home is located about three miles from this city. His prosperous financial condition will interest his friends throughout the country and doubtless excite the envy of his political opponents everywhere. When Mr. Bryan entered the campaign of 1896 one of his boats was that he was a poor man; that he was without a home, without shelter, and had to work upon a weekly salary as a newspaper writer to sustain himself and wife.

It is stated now on unquestionable authority that he has something like $168,000 in the bank at Lincoln, which he made from his campaign speeches. His home here cost $60,000. Mr. Bryan talked very freely to a friend who visited him recently about his financial condition, and seems to be happy over his great prosperity. From his conversation it was inferred that his weekly income is something like $1500. Mr. Bryan is intensely opposed to all of those principles espoused by Cleveland, Hill, Gorman, Lamont and J. J. Hill, the railroad man. Then he is bitterly resentful because he believes that these men did all they could to defeat him in the last two Presidential campaigns. Mr. Bryan believes that the principles for which he fought are more enduring and popular than any of those hitherto espoused by representatives of his party.

Mr. Bryan in 1896 had a hard time to raise money to make the campaign. He feels now that he can afford to make the campaign out of his own purse, and would not hesitate to spend the money he has accumulated to elect himself or to defeat any of those prominent men who he feels are responsible for his defeat in the last two national campaigns.

The adoption in Mexico of American styles in clothing has been very marked in recent years. Well-to-do Mexicans are discarding the old "charro" suits, high umbrellas and polished shoes for American style clothing, hats and shoes.

VOLCANO UNDER LAKE IS ACTIVE

WATERS BOIL ABOUT IT AND EXPLOSIONS OCCUR.

INDIANS ARE TERRIFIED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHENIX, Ariz., Oct. 7.—Squire Redwine, who has been in Phenix for several days, describes a smoking lake not far from the country where he lives. The lake is about forty miles from the town of Imperial and twenty-one miles south of Yuma. It lies within the Cocopah country at the base of the mountains, even below the foothills, but it has not been there very long. It is on the Mexican side of the line. It used to be in California and was supplied with water by that China river, but the Mexicans dammed that stream and the water was turned into the Cocopah river, which feeds the new lake and does little else.

Within the boundaries of the new lake there has been for several years what the Indians believed to be a volcano. Smoke was almost constantly rising from the ground, but there has been no other sign of an eruption. The water of the lake now covers the volcano to a depth of from five to ten feet. Ever since the water has been there there has been trouble and it is getting worse every day. The Indians have moved from that neighborhood and the whites in the settlement 20 miles north are thinking of moving. The lake is about 14 miles long, but not of great width. At first the disturbance was confined to the part of the water in the vicinity of the volcano, but now the water is boiling over a considerable part of its area and explosions are growing more and more frequent.

A Cure for Asthma

The worst cases of Asthma in the world succumb readily to the one great cure that never fails. Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann's Asthma Cure almost performs miracles.

Mr. R. M. Spencer, 2380 Vermont avenue, Toledo, O., says: "Asthma has been growing on me for 3 years, until last summer the attacks became so severe that many nights I spent half the time gasping for breath. Doctors seemed to give no relief whatever, and I felt there was no hope for me, when a drug clerk recommended your Asthma Cure. Its effect is truly magical and gives complete relief in from 2 to 5 minutes."

Sold by all druggists at 50c and $1.00. Send 2c stamp to Dr. R. Schiffmann, Box 863, St. Paul, Minn., for a free sample package.

Persons living in the neighborhood of Phenix are often awakened by them in the night time. Explosions are going on all the time, but they are generally of sufficient force only to throw up the water to the height of a few feet.

HANGED HIMSELF IN A CELL.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MINONK, Oct. 7.—Robert Scott Douglas of Pontiac, Ill., who had been arrested on a charge of stealing a horse, hanged himself in jail here yesterday afternoon with his suspenders. The police say he hired a horse and buggy at Ft. Morgan Friday and came to Minonk, where he sold it for $10 to a liverman. He leaves a widow and five children.

FOUR PERSONS WERE INJURED

Thrown to the Street When a Laclede Avenue Car Struck Their Carriage.

Four persons were hurt yesterday afternoon when a Laclede avenue car struck the carriage containing them. They were Herman Locker and his child Delia, 5 years old, and Minnie Rudolph, all of 1927 O'Fallon street, and Walter Pepper, the driver, of 217 North Twenty-second street.

Another man whose name was not learned was also in the carriage. All those injured were thrown to the street but none was seriously hurt.

NEW SCIENTIFIC PROCESS.
A Preparation Discovered That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ.

For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white flakes, and by sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causes falling hair, and, of course, finally baldness. For years there have been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newberr's Herminic, which destroys the dandruff germ, destroys the cause the effect will cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair. Send the stamps for sample. The Herminic Co., 31 Jefferson avenue, Detroit, Mich.

BOYS' RIDING CONTEST.

Of course I followed. We reached there just in time to see the finish of the boys' riding contest. The boys rode well, but just as Leslie Barry, who was John's came near the main gate, he fell from his horse. The ground was soft and he did not seem to be much hurt, as he climbed back on the steed and was later given a red ribbon for his riding.

Afterwards, when the one-legged bicycle rider rode down the incline from the top of the parade to the track, many children were allowed to enter the arena. They went about after the ride looking at the little Shetland ponies that were standing about waiting for their event.

Every child wanted to pet "Daisy," the spotted Shetland of Theodore Slupsky of Pope school. Little Theodore guarded his pony as well as he could from anything stronger than papa.

The children liked the exhibits of driving, especially when the little girl, Ruth Fishell, Blanche Slupsky and Edna White "drove."

The event of the day, however, was the boys' running race. Some of the boys were the owners of the horses they rode, some were just little fellows that owners had brought to the track.

Long before the race the horses and their riders were in the arena. Each boy had tried on two that he had him care for his horse.

Willie Schwartzback, who rode "Daisy," had for his gentleman "Thomas" Wesley of the Elliot school.

Chicken-Hatching Holds Attention of Many and Oh! the Joys of Riding the Horses—Quaint Sayings of the Little Ones.

By ROSE MARION.

School was in session at the St. Louis Fair Grounds Monday. Most of the children of St. Louis were present, from the kindergarten babies to the High School seniors. Much was learned, from the making of clay to the scrubbing of pigs. Lessons began outside of the Fair Grounds when the children climbed on the street cars.

All the conductors on cars running to the Fair Grounds conducted a short-hour school Monday. For hours, during the morning, most of the passengers were school children. Not much was attempted on the streetcar schools, except the maintenance of order and a short drill in deportment, numbers, principally United States money. The conductor on the Spring avenue car, upon which I rode to the Fair Grounds Monday, was assisted in both these tasks by Mamie Carter, who, though but a child herself, was taking a number of children from Howell and St. Bridget's schools to the fair.

She seated them two in a seat, and then managed the financial end of the arrangement as if she were accustomed to superintending expeditions of greater size. There were other, not of her flock, in the car who kept the conductor busy requesting them to be seated.

CHILDREN'S DAY MUD.

Once at the Fair grounds Mamie's party complained some of the muddy streets that Dr. Hyatt's brand new Children's Day sunshine hadn't had time to dry but finally waded across to the land of green grass, many side shows and much live stock. They ran as soon as they entered the gate to a shady place where they piled their baskets and buckets and then went out to see the wonder of the fair.

There where their lessons and those of many others were learned. Such nice easy lessons—all one had to do was look and listen—mostly look.

The textile hall was the first building entered. It here were many children looking at paintings, quilts and fancy work before a display of paintings on china and screens showed a crowd of girls trying to determine which they liked best. Dell Osterweh, of Bryan Hill school, was first to know her mind. Her choice was the graceful picture of a dancing girl painted on a screen.

More boys looked at the quilts than one would imagine. A boy from the Crow school had had his way, would have given a blue ribbon to an old-fashioned wooden log cabin quilt which was made after the fashion of "Light and Shade."

INTERESTED IN STAMP PICTURE.

The Carr Lane school boys were especially interested in a vase decorated with stamps that was in this building. On the vase was a picture of a scene on the coast consisting of a lake with a boy or two on its shore and a sunset over two mountains.

The Carr Lane boys amused themselves picking out the kind of stamps used before a display of stamps when they found a letter or two on the dragon's back that found a decoration of the handle of the vase.

Just outside the Textile Building I found Principal Henry of the Missouri school. Mr. Dyer told me of a monk's head done in burnt wood in the Textile Hall that I went back to see. It was considerably worth the return trip.

The building building came next. In that place Eugene Henry and his friend showed me some letter-carrier pigeons, little boys named some time brood of letters to persons' houses. There, too, I saw little Samuel Whitehead, pet Belgian hares, Lady Mary and Lady P. With Lady P. were her half-dozen babies, looking all as cunning as the twins I saw smiling at them—Frieda and Dora.

Agatha's kindergarten. The little girls had eyes as brown and as shy as those of the baby hares.

LONGING LOOKS.

From the pet stock building I went to the general exhibit building, where many little boys looked longingly at prize leaves of bread.

"Looks good," said someone.

"Looking isn't the best part when you're talking of bread," replied Fred Hemmelstern of the Divoll, with the air of a bread critic.

In front of the display of floral offerings were several little boys and one girl who were saying "How lovely!" in semi-sad voices as they admired the flowers that told of the virtues of some dear departed dear.

Florence Brophy and Isabel Black of an Arlington school were selecting the floral pieces they liked. Florence was partial to an anchor, while Isabel liked most one that had as its decoration many pink roses.

Over at the stand where names are written on glass Albert Gruer of the Irving school was getting every word of his name written on a green glass jar.

Wonderful ever pig pumpkins were the boys of the Crow.

Outside the building where the fire engines were shown, Vena Shepherd and Austin Norris of the Ames school were playing "Hide and Seek" under the wheels of the hook and ladder wagon.

Horses going in and out of the arena made that place more interesting than the exhibits and many children went over and sat in the amphitheater just before noon.

BOYS' TALKED HORSE.

When this race took place the children

The boys near me tried to pick the winner while they were getting ready to start. One threatened the black and white horse with the long tail. Another picked a certain rider, which he said would be sure to win. But Richard Henderson, while riding the Dumas school, black of color and small of size, but most mightily enthusiastic, said:

"I tell ye' which horse is going to win. That roan horse with the boy with the white in his coat." Then Richard Henderson, plus, turned to his companion and said:

"Please don't go, Henry. I don't want to see you and I don't want to see this race."

When the race was on Richard danced about in order to keep his horse in sight. When it began to lead he went wild. He threw his cap about and shouted when Jack Braton, Pilot of East St. Louis came first on roan Lady Alice. "Didn't I tell you, missus, that horse wd win?"

POINTS OF VANTAGE.

After the race most children ate their lunches. Then the boys tried to see the Wild West show by naving an admission fee, but by climbing trees and telephone poles, John Weip of the Bethlehem school and Jerry Hife of the Clay school climbed the highest and saw the most.

The girls went over to the little dancing floor, where, children danced steps learned at home. Little Gladys Sellers, in pink, and Delphine Kane, in blue, both of the Washington school, danced a two-step prettily. Their little friend, Alice Jackson, did not dance because her partner was not well.

Before this time Dr. McKimmon of the Columbia kindergarten had grown tired of flying his blue balloon and wanted to go home. The rest of his family had to lasso the balloon every time it tried to escape. Anita May Osborn, Mahel Osborn and Laura Birchhead of the Divoll spent their money for tinctures.

The chicken hatching in the incubators was one of the most interesting lessons of the afternoon. "Why do they come out of the eggs?" one little boy wanted to know. Gilbert Siebelta of the Blair explained much about the hair that turned into feathers.

The children gladly made a place for little Earl McCloskey of the Elliot school, who is crippled and has to be wheeled about in a little wagon so that he, too, might see the "chickens come out."

Annie Lloyd of the Pope showed us the sheet with bases on their backs. Sylvester Rafferty of the O'Fallon and Harry Hoffmacker of the Jackson told me how to make older from sapling willow we watched the clerk dress work. They also took me to see the largest pigs at the Fair.

LOST CHILDREN'S TEARS.

Then I happened to walk toward and into the police station, which on Children's day at the fair is a home for lost children.

There were three there when I got there—Rosie Emmos of the Laclede, Mrs. Maceline Lawler of Sacred Heart and Eugene Beardsley of Benton.

Rosie was saying "Mary had a little lamb" under the direction of a policeman, who was having his turn at school-teaching. Mary, Madeline, whose face was marked with past tear drops and Fair Grounds dust, was listening smilingly while Eugene, who once shot a bean-shooter, was trying to think of a place he knew. They let me be "company," but pretty soon I didn't know whether I was a lost child or a policeman myself. Edna Louise Potter of the Simmons came in crying as if her heart in her little black dress was broken. She was lost. So was Chester Hayden of 68 Kansas street.

There were Columbian boys, Robert Bryan Hill, John Lambert of Ames, Robert Taylor and Joe Blaudin of Peabody. Nellie Frances Roland of the Episcopal Home, Mamie Nernberg of Catholic school, Bob Jordan of Pope, Margaret Queen of Cross and a dozen or so more as well as Baby Mollie Weaver, who never went to school in her life.

Most of them cried some of the time, but all of them laughed before they were found, except Baby Mollie, and she smiled. From a place of tears the police station room changed until it looked as if it were entertaining a children's party. Rosie played "There's a church and here's a steeple," Nellie Frances sang songs, Columba told a story and Edna Louise taught them all a new game. It was only "Ring around the rosy," but Edna added a new feature by hissing that the last one to sit down must tell her name. Some folks thought Edna mistimed, but she downed the accusation by saying that her sweetest name was "Columbia." Finally Baby Mollie's folks came for her, and then the children sat around and while a little more of the fun was made to come to them.

Columbia said she hoped she'd get home in time to go to school Tuesday morning, while Joe wanted to know if policeman looked upon in cells when you get lost, done anything yet got lost.

There was a prisoner in one of the cells. The children peeped at him, then came back and talked in whispers. That was the last of the lesson learned at the Fair—the locking up of bad persons in cells.

The sun got low and the children went home—even the lost ones, who were all found before night.

FIRST COUSINS NOW DIVORCED

Sequel to the Elopement of Lorin J. and Calla N.
Pritchett.

WERE MARRIED AT LOUISVILLE
KENTUCKY LAWS ALLOW FIRST COUSINS TO WED.

When They Returned They Led an Idyllic Existence—Then Mrs.
Pritchett (nee Pritchett) Went to Chicago With Her Baby.

An anti-climax to an unusual romance of first cousins occurred at Clayton Monday when Judge McElhinney granted Lorin J.
Pritchett a divorce from Calla N. Pritchett.

For some years prior to her wedding in 1896, Calla Pritchett had been prominent in Maplewood society circles. Not only was she beautiful, but she was endowed with musical and literary attainments that made her society much sought after.

On the morning of the Fourth of July,
1896, Maplewood awoke to a sensation.
Calla Pritchett had eloped.

Not with any of her old suitors, however, but with her first cousin, Lorin J. Pritchett, the son of her father's brother.

Maplewood heard of it in press dispatches from Louisville, Ky., where the ceremony was performed, the laws of the bluegrass state permitting the marriage of cousins.

They did not return at once, being uncertain as to receiving forgiveness from their families. The relatives finally relented, though, and Lorin Pritchett and his bride established themselves in a cosy vine-clad cottage not far from the house of the bride's parents and settled down to what was apparently an idyllic existence. A baby girl

MRS. LORIN J. PRITCHETT.

was born to them and their happiness seemed complete.

One evening in May, 1901, Maplewood experienced a second sensation. Calla Pritchett had again departed unexpectedly from Maplewood.

This time she had taken the baby, Vivian,
with her, however, and left no explanation for her husband.

They left while he was at work, and when he returned to the vine-clad cottage in the evening, it was tenanted.

Several days later he received a letter from Chicago. In it his wife stated that she and the baby were well and that she was teaching music in the city by the lake.
She has never returned to Maplewood.
Last spring she notified her relatives that she and her little daughter had gone to California.

Then Lorin Pritchett filed suit for divorce. He also asked the care and custody of his child. The court denied this portion of his prayer, permitting Mrs. Pritchett to retain charge of Vivian Viola and directing Pritchett to contribute $10 monthly to her support.

It Is Almost in the Zenith of the Heavens, but It Is by No Means as Spectacular as Some.

"Canst thou see it yet, my lord?"
"Not yet, your majesty. Methinks Prof.
Perrine has been giving us the holies-golies."

"Better that he had never been born," growled the Veiled Prophet as, tired and sleepy after his long journey to his Chosen City, he sat in the royal observatory at Twenty-first and Walnut streets and looked long and earnestly for Perrine's comet, which it was predicted, would be visible in St. Louis about 8 o'clock.

"Look! Dost see that silvery patch of light with a brighter spot in its center?"
exclaimed the lord chamberlain, pointing in the direction of the constellation Cassiopea at the head of the Milky Way.

"Aye, by my kingdom! Perrine did not jest. 'Tis the comet," and his majesty fell to looking with deep interest through his telescope.

The comet was discovered Sept. 1 by Prof. C. D. Perrine at Lick Observatory.

PROF. HICKS OBSERVED IT.
St. Louisans may watch its increasing fire nightly, as it approaches the sun, if weather conditions are right.

From his observatory at Twenty-second and Locust streets, Rev. I. I. Hicks, the former weather prophet, saw the flickering of the glowing nebula. In describing it for the Post-Dispatch, Prof. Hicks said:

"This comet, about which little is yet known, is of deep interest to scientists, but is as yet hardly distinct enough to be of spectacular interest. As it appears to be going in the direction of the sun, it will grow brighter. Comets seldom carry their own light and are visible only when within the radius of the light from some luminous body."

"Comets with broad tails stretching across the sky present the most remarkable sights in the heavens, but this one has practically no tail."

LARGER THAN EARTH.
"It is just an immense body of nebular matter, dense at the center and gradually spreading into a gaseous nebula or halo.
It may be larger than either the earth or Jupiter. As it is entirely out of our solar system it must be immense to be seen at all."

"In its position in the Milky way, where there are myriads of bright stars, the untrained eye will not be able to make out Perrine's comet with much satisfaction."

Prof. Borgmeyer of the St. Louis University, Dave the Post-Dispatch, in describing it with the naked eye. The atmosphere must, of course, be clear. Alpha Cygni, and a few degrees southwest of the zenith, is the comets. To find Alpha Cygni, look for a perfect cross, formed by six bright stars and a line of lesser ones. This lesser line crosses the bright one just where Alpha Cygni appears.

RUNGE'S BODY NOT FOUND
Missouri River Dragged Downstream
From St. Charles—Supposed Sulcide From Insomnia.

The Missouri river was dragged for a long distance, beginning at St. Charles and going downstream, yesterday afternoon in a futile search for the body of Albert Runge, the former St. Charles councilman, who is supposed to have committed suicide by leaping from the ferryboat J. P. Gage.

All of last week Mr. Runge suffered from attacks of nervousness and insomnia and was on his way to St. Louis with Dr. J. E.
Bray, E. H. Fry as his physician.

In the spot where he seems to have disappeared, B. Franklin Becker, a wealthy banker of St. Charles, committed suicide a year ago by leaping from a ferryboat, and Runge was Becker's bosom friend.

Mr. Runge was a director in the First National Bank of St. Charles. His widow, who was a Miss Stickle, formerly of St.
Louis, and three children survive him.

A reward of $10 has been offered for the body.

FIRE DESTROYED PIANO.—Fire completely destroyed a piano while it was being moved on a wagon yesterday afternoon.
It belonged to the Thibodeau-Stetler Music Company and was in charge of William Fitzgerald, a driver. He was taken the instrument to a purchaser when he stopped on the way at his home, leaving the wagon unguarded in the alley. He continued the trip and knew nothing of the blaze until his attention was called to it by someone on the street. The wagon was also considerably damaged before he succeeded in suppressing the flames.

OPINION AGAINST OSTEOPATHS

City Counselor Bates Says Burial Certificates Signed By Them Are Not Legal.

Mayor Wells and the members of the Board of Health were served with subpo-nas to appear at the Butler trial at Columbia next week, just as the board was convening yesterday afternoon.

At the meeting which followed the appointments of Drs. Walter Bernays and Henry Dettmer, chemists, and E. A. Re-der, clerk of the milk inspection department, were confirmed. Action on the appointment of David F. Carter and Bernard Hold, as inspectors, was deferred until the next meeting.

City Counselor Bates rendered an opinion that osteopaths are not physicians and that burial certificates signed by them were not legal. The testing of samples of milk will be commenced very soon, it was stated, now that chemists have been appointed.

AMBASSADOR TO ROME

The President Decides to Appoint
Henry W. White.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The President has decided to appoint Henry W. White, secretary of the U. S. embassy at London, as ambassador to Rome. The appointment probably will not be made until next spring.
The late President McKinley intended to thus reward Mr. White, but found no opportunity during his incumbency. President Roosevelt, who has formed the same estimate of Mr. White's abilities that President McKinley has, decided to make him ambassador to Rome. The appointment, however, is not to be made immediately.

Mr. Meyer, the present ambassador to Rome, has just returned to that post from a visit to his home in Massachusetts, and it is expected that he will remain in Rome during the coming winter.

Nearly 40,000,000 persons have visited the Victoria and Albert Museum, South Kensington, since it was opened in 1857.

LITTLE LESSONS FOR BIG FOLKS

There are some lessons more important to learn than arithmetic and grammar. If children were taught to be careful of their stomachs as they are of their spelling, the world would be better off.

It ought to be generally known that Dyspepsia in all its forms is a curable disease. Dyspepsia is really indigestion, and from indigestion nearly all the sickness of the world arises. The way to cure Dyspepsia is to cure indigestion, and the way to cure indigestion is to take

EUPEPSIA TABLETS
These Tablets make digestion easy and perfect. They overcome belching, subdue bloating, sweeten the breath, start the natural acids and juices of the stomach into vigorous action, and set things going naturally and easily.

There is no chance or guesswork about Eupesia Tablets. They must either cure you, or you get your money back. If that isn't a fair proposition, then there never was one.

Eupesia Tablets act quickly. There is no long waiting for results. Get a box of your druggist for 50 cents, try them a few days, and then, if you are not satisfied, go back to the druggist and get your money.

RUPTURE

It is but a feeling of justice to you and the public that I should give my opinion on your Eupesia Tablets. If there is a more meritorious remedy for the cure of dyspepsia I don't know it. I have suffered from indigestion for years, have tried doctors and all advertised remedies without effect, while two bottles of your Tablets cured me.

Two weeks' treatment at your druggist's or direct for 50 cents. Your money back if they fail.
